Bus Driver with a Big Heart

Bus driver Bruce Marine has long been known for his kindness, but his ability to help out in a tough situation has brought him accolades.

The Moorsville Park and Recreation district honored Marine at Tuesday's school board meeting for helping during a summer camp field trip. One of the campers had a medical

Spotlight on Behavioral Health

Special Education Director Susie Hurt and Adult & Child Services Counselor Emily Roscoe had the opportunity to speak to members of Moorsville Chamber of Commerce Thursday.

The pair presented information about Adverse Childhood Experiences (ACES) and how they shape not only children's behavioral health but also affect physical health. Hurt spoke about several efforts at Moorsville Schools to address behavioral health while Roscoe explained the Adult and Child Services program

The elementary schools and the historic Academy Building are looking great due to help from multiple groups. Special thanks go to the several dozen volunteers who helped out at schools as part of Mt. Gilead's #ServeMoore event Saturday. Volunteers worked with school staff members to compete painting, playground, and landscaping projects across the district's elementary schools.

The MHS Alumni Association and #ServeMoore volunteers also cleaned and polished the historic desks in the Academy Building one-room school. Volunteers also were able to spread playground mulch which was purchased in part through a donation from the Mooresville Parks RECU program.

emergency and an ambulance needed to be called. Marine helped the camp counselors as they kept the girl calm and took care of other campers while help arrived. He quickly provided the perfect calming item for the scared girl, a small stuffed animal turkey she quickly named "Turkey Turk Turk" to help keep her calm. Her mother says Turkey Turk Turk now never leaves her daughter's side.

"What may have seemed like a small gesture by Mr. Marine was incredibly meaningful, not only to our camper, but also to our staff," Mooresville Park & Recreation Dept. Assistant Superintendent Kris Wilson told the Mooresville School Board on Tuesday.

Pioneer Regiment

The Mooresville School Board recognized the achievements of the Pioneer Regiment band and color guard at Tuesday's board meeting. The band placed 14th in the state and third in their division at the Indiana State Fair Band Day competition. In addition, the color guard placed first in their division and the percussion section placed fourth overall.

available at all Mooresville Schools.

Members also received information about opportunities to volunteer with school and other local programs.

To learn more about ACEs and how childhood trauma affects health, see the TED MED ACEs Presentation shown at the Chamber meeting. Families who believe their child may benefit from behavioral health services provided at school should contact their child's school and ask for the Adult and Child counselor.
