College GO! Week

This week is College GO! week for students across Mooreville Schools. Activities include presentations across the district about how different lessons are used in various careers. At MHS, students also had the chance to talk with more than a dozen technical schools and colleges to learn about fields of study and even complete applications. On Friday, all students are encouraged to wear shirts representing their favorite colleges, military, trade schools, or other postsecondary options.

Lunch Ladies Rule

The cafeteria staff at MHS/PHMS went through some tough days earlier this year when they needed to feed students in the district's two largest schools despite partial power outages in the cafeteria.

To commemorate the teamwork of the group, the staff now has shirts that say "Not even a power outage can stop this lunch lady." The staff continues to provide lunch options for more than 2,000 students at the middle and high school every day.
